DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-17 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

2. Claim(s) 6-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as not falling within one of the four statutory categories of invention. While the claims recite a series of steps or acts to be performed, a statutory "process" under 35 U.S.C. 101 must (1) be tied to another statutory category (such as a particular apparatus), or (2) transform underlying subject matter (such as an article or material) to a different state or thing (Reference the May 15, 2008 memorandum issued by Deputy Commissioner for Patent Examining Policy, John J. Love, titled "Clarification of 'Processes' under 35 U.S.C. 101"). The instant claims neither transform underlying subject matter nor positively tie to another statutory category that accomplishes the claimed method steps, and therefore do not qualify as a statutory process.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the applicant's admitted prior art (AAPA) in view of Ikeda et al. (US 5,506,836).

For claim 1, the applicant's admitted prior art (AAPA) discloses the circuit comprising:

a memory (figure 2, reference 14) for storing the shifted samples (page 2, lines 20-27); and means for copying at the end of the symbol the stored samples (figure 2, reference 14, page 2, lines 24-27).

However, the AAPA does not expressly disclose means for shifting the phase of each complex coefficient by a value proportional to its frequency, so that said last samples of the symbol are shifted at the beginning of the symbol according to a circular permutation. In an analogous art, Ikeda et al. disclose means for shifting the phase of each complex coefficient by a value proportional to its frequency, so that said last samples of the symbol are shifted at the beginning of the symbol according to a circular permutation (col. 7, lines 15-53).

One skilled in the art would have recognized the means for shifting the phase of each complex coefficient by a value proportional to its frequency, so that said last samples of the symbol are shifted at the beginning of the symbol according to a circular permutation, and would have applied Ikeda et al.'s DFT in the AAPA. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention, to use Ikeda et al.'s orthogonal frequency division multiplex demodulation in the AAPA with the motivation being to provide the coefficient changes in amplitude and phase (col. 7, lines

For claim 3, the applicant's admitted prior art (AAPA) discloses wherein the memory is of FIFO type (figure 2, reference 14, page 2, line 18).

For claim 4, the applicant's admitted prior art (AAPA) discloses wherein the means for copying the stored samples include a multiplexer (figure 2, reference 16), a first input and a second input of which are respectively connected to the input and to the output of the memory (page 2, lines 18-19).

For claim 5, the applicant's admitted prior art (AAPA) discloses wherein the means for shifting delays the symbol only by the duration of said prefix and the memory stores only the shifted samples without storing any of the samples of the symbol other than the shifted-samples ((page 3, line 12).

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
